The aim of this work is that of reclaiming the passing of time, death and beauty; I asked to two elderly dancers, to perform for 3 hours. The project springs from a memory, an image vivid in my mind and in that of many, a common scenario in the area where I have grown up, Emilia, and part of my family history. I tried to create a different time and space from that of my memory, which could at the same time maintain some elements.
